Unraveling of the Tribes 6 - Return to Polyester Year Reunion class of '68's 50th High School Reunion

Days of Plaid and Neuroses

(Left): Philip Bashe ('72) puts the finishing touches on the welcome table just as the hordes descend on the Homestead.

(Top right): Your research committee found this mysterious, ancient orb in a souk in Marrakesh. Paid a pretty penny for it, too. Got it home only to find out it's called a "disco ball," and it dates only to the 1970s AD. Rip-off, man!

Thanks to our photographers: Philip Bashe, Dee D'Acerino Mason, Nick Pellicoro, Shari Strongin, Jeff Arkin, Leslee Moskowitz Catalano, Marci Oppenheim Davidman, Joe Pinto, Ted Papas, Leslie Edlind Ramsey, Betsy Levy Sgroi.

Early arrivals from the class of 1976. Say hello to (left) Wendy Schack Forrest with husband Alan, and (below) Jeffrey Bortnick and his wife, Lauren.

Great to see Roy Florino ('71) for the first time in three years, and, for the first time ever, his lovely wife, June Perrone.

Showing off his still-wearable '68 shirt is Mark Rudes, pictured here with the class of 1971's Lucy Levy Raskin. Lucy used to live in Oyster Bay, home to the Homestead, but now resides in Huntington.

Jericho couple Meryl Ross Fischer and husband Danny Fischer, both from the class of '70, with Mitch Goldman from the class of '68. Meryl's sister, Laurie ('73), is one-half of a Jericho couple, too, with Fred Schneider.

How's this for an age span? Above, Michael Cohen, from the JHS class of 1984, with wife Melissa, and at right, from the class of 1964 (though you'd never know it) are Hope Davis and Marilyn DellaVecchia Profita. Hope is the cousin of Ralph Davis ('68), who came in for his fiftieth reunion.

Sign, Sign, Everywhere a Sign

Do This, Don't Do That, Can't You Read the Sign?

DO THIS, DON'T DO THAT

Please wear your name badge so you know who you are.

"Hey! Class of '68! Turn around!" "You're over there!"

Tsk, tsk! Tardy, are we? Didn't RSVP in time to have a name tag made up? Well, then, young man/young lady, grab a marker and write your name and class on one of these blanks. And report to detention first thing tomorrow morning. For shame!

October 7, 1968

Teachers? Hell, yeah, we had teachers!
At left, Mitch Goldman and his wife, Susan, flank Mr. Bob Hoffman, and, below, Mr. Jack Latham, who was teaching in Jericho in 1961, the year of its very first graduating class.

Below, social studies teacher Mrs. Judith Martin.

At left, Justin Bashe, son of Philip and Patty Bashe, poses with history teacher Mr. Ira Greene. In the mid-1970s, he left teaching for a career in law. Justin and his dad see Mr. Greene regularly in his role as volunteer docent at the American AirPower Museum, in Farmingdale.

The ever-popular Mrs. Karen Schwartz with Rick Baiman and Judy Friedman Sadick, both from the class of '73.

(Right) Beth Polon Silverman and Lori Kroll LoSchiavo, friends from the class of '75, have the right idea: upon arriving, head directly to the bar!

A stunning trio from the JHS class of 1977: Roxanne Litt Berlin, Linda Goldstein Sherman, and Shari Goldberg Stearn.

Great to see Craig Libstag ('71), who came down from his home in Vermont for the Return to PolyesterYear Reunion. Passing east, we have Rachel Glickman ('72), Paul Rosen ('71), Leslee Moskowitz Catalano ('72), and Roy Fiorino ('71).

Looking good are Robert Colgan, from the class of 1970, and his wife, Ann. Younger sister Bonnie, whom you'll see shortly, also attended. Their ninety-five-year-old father, Bob Sr., still lives in the family home on Willets Lane. Bob works at The Late Show with Stephen Colbert.

From the class of 1969, we have Long Islanders Janet Giannetto and Robin Vladem Berman on either side of Peter Goodgold, who flew up from his home in Florida to see everyone.

(Left) Marvin Chertok ('69) arrives with his wife, Maria. The couple live in Hauppauge. (Below) Paul Rosen ('71) and wife Nancy. Marvin's sister Sandi ('72) was in attendance, as was Paul's older brother, Jeff.

Hey, Stu! Stuart Fishman from the class of 1972 with Marsha Sonneborn-Berdugo. Stu's been a Manhattanite for some time now.

It was a good evening for Yankees' fans, too, as the TVs showed the team's decisive win in game two against Boston. Clearly the Yanks were ready to steamroll the hated Sox and move on to the ALCS!

Lucy Levy Raskin ('71) with the class of 1970's Kerri Smilowitz Kelly.

Amy Lubow Downs ('72), in the middle with Lisa Saitz Sokol ('70) and her husband, Larry.

"What?! You wanna take a picture?!" Anne Gruber seems to be saying. "Oh ... okay. Go ahead." Good, because you and your 1969 classmates Marvin Chertok, Stuart Lebowitz, and Patrick O'Brien happen to take a great photo.

A trio of West Birchwood-ites: Tim McCoy ('76), Michael Cohen ('84), and (Andy Romanoff ('72). Andy, who lives in West Hempstead, has four grown children and a whole batch of grandkids. Now semiretired, he's had a distinguished career in education. And he's still a master musician, although these days he's traded in his electric guitar for a number of exotic stringed instruments.

Bonnie Colgan Kasonovich ('73, second from r.), who came in from in Michigan, poses with classmates Judy Friedman Sadick (far r.) and her brother Robert and sister-in-law Ann.

"Hi, we're Dolores 'Dee' D'Acerino ('68) and Philip Bashe ('72) of your loyal, dogged reunion committee, and though the party is just getting started, we're ... really ... tired." In Dee's case, you'll see why on the following pages.

Meanwhile, in that OTHER room ...

... It was a reunion within a reunion...

... within a reunion

Joe Pinto and wife Debbie flew up from their home in Port St. Lucie, Florida.

Former Oakwood neighbors Michelle Edelheit Black and Bruce Steiner happily reconnect. Michelle lived on Willets Lane; Bruce, on Halsey Avenue.

Folks came from all over for the class of '68's fiftieth reunion. Ted Papas and his wife, Irene, have been married for forty-three years. His fave high school memory? "My friends, of course, but also all the really cool cars in the senior class parking lot, which kind of made me into the car buff that I am today. This was smack in the middle of the muscle-car era. There were many drag races right after school—wish I had my cell phone with me then to record some of them!"

"Vere are your papers? You must show your identification papers!!!!!" (Top left) Committee member Saundra Gumerove had the tough job of (wo)manning the entrance to the Teddy Roosevelt Room. Believe us when we say that no one who wasn't in the class of 1968 was allowed to slip inside. Vigorous frisking, body-cavity search—the whole nine yards. To be honest, there was an element of "Hey, you kids, keep your ball off my lawn!" to it, but, then, they are sixty-eight years old. Ah, we're kidding. If we were them, we wouldn't want to fraternize with the likes of us, either!

Speaking of swag bags, Mr. Hoffman and Pam Raiber Schreiber shows off theirs. Let's hear it for Dee, who put them all together herself, including the homemade pom-poms. Now, that is what we call dedication!

DA BOYZ!

In the photo to the right of it, we have Nancy on the left this time, with Barbara Schneider Blum—an almost local girl, from Woodbury. And in the photo below, we have Nancy Shevin Tuman in between Barbara and Ronny. Got it?

(Left) Linda Glasser Rudes, Laura Kaplan Schechtman, and Leslie Edlind Ramsey. Laura, a Florida transplant, lives on the east coast, in Boca Raton. She is not responsible for that state's inability to vote and tabulate the totals in one election after the next.

Boys and Girls Together...

Nick Pellicoro and Pam Raiber Schrieber went to the senior prom together—though they almost didn't. Just before graduation in June 1968, presidential candidate Robert F. Kennedy was assassinated in Los Angeles. At first, the class consensus was to cancel the event. But over the next few days, they reconsidered and went ahead with the prom, held at the Sands Beach Club in Long Beach. RFK's death came just two months after Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination in Memphis. Sure, we're living through turbulent times in 2018, but don't forget the troubled global climate of fifty years ago, when these kids were leaving Jericho and heading off into a big, scary world.

Nancy Tuman Shevin, who came in from Chalfant, Pennsylvania, with Warren Dreyfus. He lives in Great Neck but is considering retiring to Florida. Our advice, Warren? Remain a resident of New York State and vote via absentee ballot.

Smiling together are (left) Peter Miller and Ronny Glasner Frishman, and (below) Mark Rudes and Linda Glasser Rudes, now married for forty-eight years. She is a retired high school principal, while he just became a published author, with his baseball novel The Progeny. Congrats!

Sweet story from Clorinda Muligano Noyes, who met her husband, Richard, at Hartt College of Music, where she was a violin performance major, and he was a cello performance major. They both teach the Suzuki method of playing and have been performing with the Portland Symphony Orchestra for thirty-five years. All three of their children are also professional musicians.

Schwartzie's Corner

It's widely acknowledged that Mrs. Karen Schwartz, who taught from 1954 to 1988, is one of the most beloved teachers ever to wear tennis sneakers and a gym whistle down Jericho High School's polished hallways. So many folks at the reunion clamored to have their photo taken with her that it seemed sensible to just put them all on the same page.

... and below with Manhattanite Sharon Becker Markovics ...

... and below with Shari Strongin, from the JHS class of 1976 ...

How did Shari sneak in here? This is for '68 only! [Alarms sounding.] Summon security! Quickly!

Throughout this photo album, you're looking at pictures of grandmas. Or if not grandmas, then women old enough to be grandmothers. Now, some may take this to be objectifying women, but since I have the floor, here we go anyway ...

All I know is, if my two grandmas looked anything like the grandmas from the class of 1968 back when I was growing up, I'd have been in therapy seven days a week for life.

Ya can't have a party without cake, right? 'Cos then it'd be a ... party ... without ... cake! Reunion committee members Nick, Dee, and Sandra proceed to do the honors before passing out slices for the ceremonial cake fight! Would've taken some great photos of it, but, regrettably, the camera lens got covered in vanilla frosting.

There was also a raffle drawing. Nick Pellicoro pretends not to peek as Betsy Levy Sgroi, of Huntington, draws the winner from a glass bowl of piranhas. Drum roll, maestro, for maximum suspense ...

Is this dedication or what? Bob Hoffman grades a very late term paper one '68 attendee brought to the reunion. Actually, it's some fun reading material from the reunion committee about life in 1968.

Winner Joe Pinto shows off his Apple gift card. More than one person wise-cracked, "Too bad it's not Apple stock."

Always fun when someone brings mementos (but not pimentos—totally different) to the party. Nick Pellicoro put together this display of some of his athletic letters. "We actually had baseball jackets and white sweaters that the letters were sewn onto," he recalls.

Ted and Irene Papas. After graduation, Ted attended Adelphi University and from there went right to a big-eight accounting firm. "I did manage to go to Europe beforehand for six weeks before starting my long career," he says. Ted and Irene, who have two children and two grandsons, are happily retired in the same Huntington Station home they bought when they married forty-three years ago.

Left to right: Marsha Grossman Bateman, Marty Arkin, Mark Grand, Larry Tillis, Nancy Shevin Tuman, Walter Bachman, Lois Hamann Camero, and Warren Dreyfus. In back of Walter and Lois are Martha Diefendorf and Richard Mandor. At this table are not one, not two, but three current Jericho residents: Marsha, Walter, and Mark; Martha traveled the longest distance: she lives in Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Dee D'Acerino, who had this banner printed up for the party, kindly bequeathed it to any future JHS class that wishes to use it (after modifying the year, of course) for its fiftieth reunion. It currently sits rolled up in Philip Bashe's basement, next to his extensive collection of lifesize figurines of JHS principals.

At this table we have Neil Smilowitz in conversation with Mitch Goldman, Mrs. Judith Martin, and Laurie Katz.

Among the faces we can make out are (in front, from l. to r.) Diane Cohn Bass, Linda Glasser Rudes, Sharon Becker (back to camera), and Ronny Glasner Frishman.

Way in back on the left is tall John Hollosy.

That's Paul Jendrewski behind Linda Glasser and facing the camera, chatting with Mr. Hoffman, who is ... not. To the right of them, Peter Miller.

In back on the right, facing the camera, Judy Gordon Plumer.

(Right) Paul Jendrewski, here with Judy Gordon Plumer and Linda Glasser Rudes, was a much beloved teacher in the Jericho school district for many years.

Mitch Goldman, surrounded by wife Susan and Nancy Mandelkern Wolff, is an attorney and health care entrepreneur in Philly. He's one of nine class-of-'68-ers to be inducted into the JHS Alumni Hall of Fame, along with Sharon Becker Markovics and Peter Miller, both shown chatting together at right, as well as Pamela Tropper, Lorraine Huzar, Stuart Shalat, Carol Ross Fein, Jennifer Armstrong, Walter Bachman, and Sandra Gumerove.

(Left) Ronny Glasner Frishman (with Terry Drucker) studied journalism at Northwestern University. Then "I got married to my husband Alan," she says, "and spent two and a half years in Kano, Nigeria, teaching English." The Frishmans have lived in Rochester, New York, for more than thirty years. After seventeen years as a newspaper journalist, Ronny went freelance. She and Alan have two grown, married sons and one grandson.

(Left) Nick Pellicoro and Dee D'Acerino have been friends for more than fifty years and will be friends for the next fifty. How do we know? If your friendship can survive the stress of throwing a high school reunion, it can withstand anything.

We now return you to our regularly scheduled reunion program ...

Jerichonians in the great outdoors

As always, we lucked out with the weather. It was a gorgeous night — sorry, gawjuss — and a fabulous weekend, so lots of us hung outside in the Homestead's courtyard. It proved to be the last perfect weekend of the fall. A week later, it was rainy and chilly.

(Far left) One of our many Jericho couples, Tim Kelly and Kerri Smilowitz Kelly, from the class of '70, still look crazy 'bout each other. But what gives (left)? A minute later, she's in some other guy's arms! Whuzzat? Oh, right, it's older bro Neil Smilowitz ('68). Never mind.

(Right) Continuing the smooching-and-brotherly-love themes, Jeff Arkin ('75) plants one on Marty Arkin ('68). Jeff, a JHS Hall of Fame inductee, happens to live in Philly; Marty, an optometrist, in Weston, Connecticut.

Didja know that Janet Giannetto ('69) and Nick Pellicoro ('68) are cousins? Now ya do.

We were thrilled that Linda Weinstock Hamilton ('74) could fly in from Texas. That's '75's Mike Diehl (l.) and Gloria Rothstein (r.)

As you can see, throughout the evening, members of the class of '68 escaped under the razor wire to join the general assemblage, such as (left) Allen Lubow, with guest Mary Perillo, and (above) Peggy Murray Anderson (r.), visiting with Lisa Saitz Sokol ('70) and Mr. Ira Greene. But don't worry: they were quickly apprehended and returned to the Theodore Roosevelt Room, where they were "medicated" and "deprogrammed," to ensure this never happened again.

Class of '75 duo: Sean Kelly and Andrew Geyer.

Solo Shots!

Shari Strongin ('76).

The photos on this page all have one thing in common: at least one member of the class of 1969. Hey, 2019 makes fifty years since you graduated high school. Got any, um , plans?

Mr. Robert Hoffman and Robin Vladem Berman, who lives in Merrick, LI.

Nothing is better than Landlubber clothes.

(Below) Rick Baiman ('73), Dianne Oliva ('74), Lori Kroll LoSchiavo ('75), and Beth Polon Silverman ('75).

Say, Peter Goodgold ('69)—If you're enjoying yourself with Maria Chertoff, give us a thumbs-up, willya?

Thought so.

Justin Bashe, with Mr. Hoffman (r.), has been a big admirer of attorney Sandra Gumerove ('68) ever since meeting her upon her induction into the JHS Hall of Fame in 2010 for her work as a legal advocate for folks with special needs.

Part(y)ing Shots

Everybody wanted a picture taken with Dianne Oliva ('74). So take a ticket, be seated, and wait for your name to be called. And no cutting in line, y'hear?!

... with Bruce Steiner ('68).

Hair like yours needs a shampoo like ours. Wella Balsam Shampoo.

The longer your hair is, the more chance it has to get thin, broken and dull. Hot combs and too much sun and wind can weaken the ends of your hair. Wella Balsam Conditioning Shampoo adds strength and shine to troubled hair, while it washes it clean. It's just as easy to use as a plain shampoo, but it helps to keep your hair healthy at the same time and makes it so easy to comb.

If your hair is really in trouble, and you just can't get it to behave the way you want it to, use Wella Balsam Instant Hair Conditioner after every shampoo. It only takes a minute, and it really makes a difference. Stay in style but get your head together. With Wella Balsam Conditioning Shampoo and Wella Balsam Instant Conditioner.

Jeff Arkin, with classmate Gloria Rothstein ('75), shows off his school spirit—even though that's an Oyster Bay High School sports T-shirt. You see, neither Oyster Bay nor Jericho had enough kids to field a football team, so they combined their squads—and put up a 7-1 record in 2018.

(Below) Dianne Oliva ('74), Estelle Oliva Scarpinato ('68), and Kerri Smilowitz Kelly ('70).

Best Excuse Ever

For obvious reasons, this just has to be the final photo from the evening: '73's Rick Baiman, Bonnie Colgan Kosonovich, and Judy Friedman Sadick having fun.

People have all sorts of reasons they can't make a high school reunion, some more legitimate than others. Toni Molina Romas ('72) couldn't join older brother John because she had her college reunion that night. And Shelley Block ('75) had to attend husband Alan Gerber's high school reunion in New Jersey. And James Rudy ('72) was traveling around Europe. Then you have the excuses on the order of: "Would love to see everybody, but we're taking our cocker spaniel to college orientation that weekend." Which, given Jerichonians' generally ambitious natures, is not inconceivable.

On the Friday of the big reunion weekend, we received the following email from the class of 1970's Meredith Ringler out in Vail, Colorado:

Hi all! Wish I could make it, but I have a slight conflict: I'm getting married on Sunday :) Please keep me in mind for the next one! We're biking down the aisle on a tandem bike to an island on the Vail Golf Course, pulling our grandkids in a Burley trailer to the tune (custom of course) of "Bicycle Built for Two"! :)

Enjoy! I'm having a band who will be playing 60s, 70s, and 80s tunes in costume, and I'll be changing from my gown to the minidress I wore in 11th grade—complete with go-go boots—so I'll be there in spirit! Carol Fain, Frannie Cordasco, Ellen Cooper, and Phyllis Simon will be at my wedding ... so they will also send their wishes to everyone. Cherie West Berk came to visit a month ago and is in Ecuador, so she can't make it. We're all still in touch!

Have a great reunion! Let's do the next one in Vail!!
Love, Meri

The lucky groom is Steve Fuller.

Extracurricular Activities ♦ Golf at Glen Cove Golf Club

Class of '68 duffers for a day: John Hollosy, Paul Jendrewski, Warren Dreyfus, Walter Bachman, friends Nick Melillo and Jackie "The Jokeman" Martling of Howard Stern Show fame, Jon Pellicoro ('70), and Nick Pellicoro.

(Below) Warren, Walter, Paul, and John.

Nick Pellicoro explains the rules of golf-for-people-68-and-older to Walter Bachman: (1) If your drive lands within 100 yards of the green? Hole in one. (2) Your putt comes within 20 feet of the cup? A gimme. (3) Nap time at 5th hole.

(Above) Check out the swag bag that Nick put together for the golfers. Having the Jericho Jayhawk emblazoned on your balls?* Now, that's school spirit! Great job, Nick.

 Sophomoric humor alert. Sorry.

Extracurricular Activities ♦ Friday Night at Frank's Steaks

Dee D'Acerino Mason, Dr. Jerry Kaplan, and, showing off his Yankees spirit, Paul Jendrewski. It was the first night of the New York–Boston divisional playoff, and of course the Yanks were going to starch the Sox! World Series, here we come!

One of the great things about having a Friday-night get-together is that it allowed folks who couldn't make the Saturday-night class-of-'68 fiftieth-reunion party to get to see old friends. Grace Andresini (middle, with Dee and Mitch Goldman's wife, Susan) dropped in.

Extracurricular Activities ♦ Saturday High School Tour

The class of '68 toured Jericho High School and plopped itself down in the Little Theater. Thanks to committee member Sandra Gumerove for organizing this event.

- ♦ 1st row: Nick Pellicoro, Leslie Edlind Ramsey, Steve Faber, Sandra Gumerove, Dr. Jerry Kaplan, Mr. Ira Greene.
- ♦ 2nd row: Someone's errant husband (?), Martha Diefendorf, Nadine Levine, Ralph Davis, Nancy Shevin, Ronny Glasner.
- ♦ 3rd row: Stu Fass, Mitchell Goldman, Terry Drucker, Bruce and Sandy Steiner.
- ♦ 4th row: Bob Burford, Susan Goldman, Richard Mandor.
- ♦ 5th row: Paul Rosen ('71), Jeffrey and Lynne Rosen.

Extracurricular Activities ♦ Sunday Bayville Beach Hangout

The beautiful weather continued throughout the weekend, with the temperature around 80 degrees. In October. As is usually the case, only a handful of us managed to get out of bed and straggle to the beach, but given the weather and the tranquil Long Island Sound, it was a relaxing way to spend a couple of hours before drawing the curtain closed on another Gathering of the Tribes.

Paul and Rose had a triple celebration the weekend of the reunion: on Friday, October 5, their thirty-eighth wedding anniversary, their third grandchild was born. The couple, who live in Chicago, both still practice medicine—he, specializing in endocrinology; she, in hematology oncology—and have two adult children, Peter and Katharine. They were looking forward to flying home to meet their new grandkid.

(Above) As always, Philip Bashe forgets to ask someone to take a photo of him with the group, and so must resort to a selfie. Except that he took it with his camera, not his cell phone, and was aiming blindly, resulting in this flattering angle. It's his tradition to stop off at Whole Foods in Jericho (site of the former Waldbaums) and pick up some precious, overpriced microbrewskies for the picnic, with the goofiest names possible. This brand was called something like Bataan Death March. Probably had the word dog in it too; they always have the word dog in 'em. And, it goes without saying, a picture of a skull.
